

Week 23

I finally finished my environmental essay, I just need to add some finishing touches and edits then I'll be done. I have also began working on the essay about Sci-hub and open access more. It is proving to be interesting and with a surprisingly rich history and community. I also need to work on editing some of my past essays to make them print friendly for parent's weekend when Mr. Ford wants me to present to a few parents on what I did.
